DANGEROUS PRISONERS ESCAPE JAIL

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Two screams from the bathroom gave us notice yesterday that the smallest had difficulties.

Seems as though he had locked the door from the inside and now wanted to get out.

We patiently coached him from outside the door on how to push the little lever down that locks the door.

He admitted that he had pushed it up to lock the door, so we told him all he had to do was to push it down to unlock it.

About all we got out of this was a plaintive "I can't".

We repeated this for some time until our nerves were worn to a frazzle then the distaff side took over with the same results.

All the other kids were screaming advice at the same time which didn't help the situation either.

We finally went to the outside and somehow manipulated the wind-down and screen in such a way as to provide an opening about eight inches high.

We started our coaching again on the same results.

The deadlock was finally broken by advice at the same time which didn't help the situation either.

Instead of being ashamed of the commotion he had raised, the smallest took on an air of injured dignity. We at least got a promise of sorts not to lock the door any more.

QUESTION
What improvement would you like for the school in your neighborhood to have?

ANSWERS
Mrs. Burr, Walston: (Training School) More buses so the kids won't have to get on the bus so early, and they are too crowded too.

Mrs. I. L. Travis: (Almo School) Just anything that would help better the school. I think a better lunch room, would be awfully nice to have.

Mrs. Mason Thomas: (Faxon School) They don't have a very good play ground, there are no swings or anything for them to play with, so I think a nice play ground is what we really need.

Mrs. Pat Rowland: (Murray High School) More room, and of course, we are getting that, so other than that I guess the best thing would be more play ground for the younger children.

Mrs. James Blakey: (Training School) My little girl's at school age yet, so I wouldn't know what to say until I am more acquainted with the school.

Union City Climbs In Kitty League

The Union City Greyhounds moved up to fourth place in the Kitty League today by thumping Jackson 8-3, to rack up their seventh straight win last night.

Art Cook took the mound for the Greyhounds and allowed seven hits, with the Hounds outting Jackson 9 to 7. Jackson hurler Howard Ralph was the loser.

Last place Hopkinsville upset second rated Paducah, 11-3, with catcher Vince Pankovits banging three doubles to drive in three runs for the Hoppers. Ray Seftis got credit for the mound victory.

Madisonville broke an eight game losing streak by scoring two runs in the top half of the 10th inning to charge past Owensboro, 6-4. The Oilers outbit Madisonville, 12 to 8. Joe Walz who came on in relief was the winner.

Fulton kept up its league leading pace by handing Mayfield a 6-2 loss. Don McNair was the winning pitcher but was relieved by Fulton manager Sam Lamitina in the seventh inning. Menner and Lamitina together allowed seven hits. The Cluthens were charged with six errors.

Tonight Fulton will be at Mayfield; Paducah at Hopkinsville; Owensboro at Madisonville; and Jackson at Union City.

Ed Adams, senior at Murray State College, will represent Gamma Delta, the Murray State chapter of Phi Mu Alpha music fraternity, at the group's thirty-second national convention which is now July 19 in Cincinnati.

The three-day convention in the Hotel Netherland Plaza will bring together an estimated 500 representatives of Phi Mu Alpha's 124 chapters.

Included on the convention's agenda are concerts by a symphony and chorus composed of convention delegates, and the awarding of national honorary status to the fraternity's eight living past presidents.

Local Men To Attend WOW Conference

Buford Hurt, 209 Wells Boulevard, state manager of West Kentucky for the Woodmen of the World, T. C. Collier and W. O. Conner, are among more than 180 Woodmen field men in 27 states to qualify for an all-expenses paid trip to Atlantic City, N. J., to attend a four-day field conference at Hotel Ambassador, July 21 to 25.

Those qualifying met quotas for membership applications from March 1, 1951, to May 1, this year. Mr. Hurt and Mr. Collier also qualified to bring their wives with them to the conference.

Mr. Hurt will be one of three leaders of a field man's class on the final day of the conference. Frank Bettger of Philadelphia, author of the best-seller, "How I Raised Myself From Failure to Success," will be principal guest speaker when President Farrar Newberry, Omaha, opens the meeting Monday morning.

Bettger will tell how he built his successful insurance agency. A former St. Louis Cardinal third baseman, he began selling insurance when an injury forced him out of baseball. At 29, however, he was a dismal failure as a salesman. Twenty years later, he had built a prosperous business.

Bettger's book, published in several countries, sells over 100,000 copies a year. A movie, "The Bettger Story," recently was made by Dartnell Corporation. Mr. Bettger now devotes much time to writing and lecturing under auspices of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Woodmen field men, national officers and state managers will be speakers during the remainder of the conference. Speakers Tuesday will include J. B. Blalock, Louisville, state manager of West Kentucky; R. H. Abernathy, Omaha, national educational director; Max B. Hurt, Omaha, executive vice president; W. C. Braden, Omaha, national secretary; and R. N. Dossman, San Antonio, a national director and state manager of South-west Texas.

Vice President H. M. Lundgren, Omaha, will speak on "The Best Investment in the World," and R. W. Deems, chief medical underwriter Omaha, will discuss processing membership applications Wednesday morning. A panel discussion on servicing new members will be led by R. C. Payne, field man, Jonesboro, N. C.; M. L. Lester, financial secretary, Easley, S. C.; and J. N. Cochran, national treasurer, Omaha.

E. E. (Blue) Howell, Omaha, boys activities director, a former All-American at Louisiana State and Yale football coach, and Arthur Hurt, assistant director, Omaha, will speak on Boys of Woodcraft activities Wednesday morning.

A field men's clinic Thursday morning will be led by Buford Hurt, Murray, state manager, West Kentucky; J. P. Miller, Pennsylvania State Manager, Blairsville; and Farrar Newberry, Jr., state manager of Tennessee, Nashville.

Speakers on the final day's program will be Head Consul, Burlington T. Hill, Wadesboro, N. C.; John Dimmitt, San Antonio; H. C. Fabian, Atlanta, state manager of Georgia; and Horace L. Rosenblum, Omaha, editor of the society's magazine.

WHEN SITUATION BEGAN TO LOOK REALLY BRIGHT

THIS WARM PHOTO of General and Mrs. Eisenhower shows them smiling in Chicago hotel headquarters as the situation began to look bright for his nomination at GOP convention not far away. (International)

The Selection Of Eisenhower By Republicans Dominates The Planning Of Democrats

By George J. Marder
Political Correspondent for U.P.

Republican events are casting shadows on the Democratic walls in Chicago.

And the biggest shadow of all is the silhouette of the man the Republicans picked to throw the Democrats out of the White House.

The GOP choice of Eisenhower dominates the thinking, planning, speculating, politicking of the early arrivals for the Democratic national convention, which starts next Monday.

You can see it in their state-ments, read it in their words, feel it in the air which is becoming heavy with Democratic politics.

You find it foremost in the mind of Senator Sparkman of Alabama.

Stevenson's language is that of a man who has made up his mind, finally and irrevocably. But there are some who will try to get him to change it.

Stevenson has an enthusiastic following within the Democratic organization and among the party's top leaders. If they want Stevenson, they have potent arguments to persuade him to run. Arguments such as loyalty to party, that he's the only man who can unite the warring factions of the Democratic organization, that he perhaps is the only man who might have a chance to defeat his friend, Eisenhower.

Rescue Squad Needs More Members

The announcement was made this week that the Murray Rescue Squad is making the attempt to recruit more members for the summer season.

The group meets regularly on the first Wednesday night of each month. The public is invited to attend these meetings and to see the training that the squad undergoes to prepare themselves to handle emergencies.

Official of the squad said that they wished to make it plain to the people that the Rescue Squad is on call at all times for any emergency that might arise. All of the group are volunteers who serve without pay.

The organization has been called in several cases where someone drowned, but squad officials say that the rescuer, with which the squad is equipped, is also highly useful in the event of heart attacks, electric shock, gas poisoning, exposure, or anything that might bring about difficulty in breathing.

The group will have supper at Kelly's Cafe on Wednesday evening, July 16 at 6:30 p.m. and will go from there to the fire department for their regular meeting.

All members of the squad are requested to be present. Officers of the Rescue Squad are W. O. Seneer, president; J. C. Maupin, vice-president; James Johnson, secretary-treasurer; W. B. Moser, chaplain; John Street, captain; Paul Lee, lieutenant; A. J. Marshall, lieutenant; Flavio Robertson, quartermaster; Logan Bland, sergeant-at-arms; Milford Hicks, supply sergeant.

Sheets Used To Gain Freedom From Third Floor County Jail

Two Negroes, described as dangerous, escaped from the county jail last night or in the early morning hours. Their escape was accomplished by removing the heavy iron bars from a window on the third floor, prying off the heavy screen on the outside, and letting themselves to the ground by sheets tied together.

Jailer Ed Burken said this morning that he had last seen the two men, the only occupants of the jail, about eleven o'clock last night. He was called this morning about seven o'clock and told about the jailbreak.

City officers were first acquainted with the break when they saw sheets hanging from the window of the jail this morning. The jail is located on the third floor of

Democrats Jockey For Rail Position

The race for the Democratic presidential nomination is in the home stretch.

Altogether, about 17 candidates, including many a dark horse, are jockeying for position. So far, nobody has a winning lead, with the convention starting just one week from today.

Candidate Averell Harriman begins his stretch drive tonight, in New Jersey. He'll be guest of honor at a dinner for New Jersey's 32 unpledged delegates.

But Harriman will have to share the New Jersey field tonight. Supporters of Senator Kefauver and Governor Adlai Stevenson will be on hand to try to swing the 32 votes they carry.

The head of the state committee for Kefauver, Lester Kramer, claims a majority of the New Jersey votes will go to the Tennessee Democrat on the first roll call.

Kefauver already has started fighting the Republican nominee in a speech at Syracuse, New York. The Tennessee lawmaker charged that Dwight Eisenhower is "the unwitting look of a few greedy men."

Kefauver says "Wall Street bankers"—that's his expression—put Eisenhower across at the convention last week.

"Support for Kefauver" is building up in his home state. And Governor Gordon Brown, of Tennessee, has begun an effort to rally the Democratic governors of the nation around just one candidate, Sybil Browning.

But while the country for support one man, Governor Stevenson is doing his best to discourage a boom.

Speaking to newsmen in Chicago Stevenson said: "For the last time, I am not going to run for the Democratic nomination." He added, jokingly, that if he were nominated he would shoot myself.

Presidential hopeful Senator Robert Kerr is stumping North Dakota. Speaking in Fargo, the Oklahoma charter "The Republican party is suffering from an epidemic of five-star generals. Kerr predicts he'll have 150 first ballot votes at the Democratic convention.

According to a United Press tabulation, Kerr now is credited with 33 1/2 votes. Harriman has 11 1/2 votes. Senator Richard Russell of Georgia has 18 1/2 votes. And the front runner, Senator Kefauver, has 257 convention delegates in his pocket.

At least 616 delegates are needed to nominate.

But while the fight for delegates goes on, 53 Democratic congressmen have suggested a plan for doing away with delegates, convention and the like. They favor a nationwide referendum primary, with the candidate elected by the rank and file of the party. The congressmen have petitioned the Democratic convention to include and there is no telling when he will let up.

IF YOU DIDN'T SLEEP WELL LAST NIGHT YOU CAN BLAME IT ON THE HEAT

Have any trouble getting to sleep last night? If you did, don't feel badly, and don't think it's just because you're creeping up on you. The unofficial temperature last night at 11:00 o'clock was 90 degrees, with the humidity fairly high at that.

The weatherman has had a heyday for the past month or so, and there is no telling when he will let up.

the court house, and there is a sheer drop of three stories from the window to the concrete porch of the court house. The sheets lacked about eight feet of reaching the concrete and it is presumed that the two men dropped that distance to their freedom.

The two Negroes are Charles Miller, alias Charles Coklow, and Stanley Bennett.

Miller alias Coklow has a police record and was only recently captured by city police officers in a two day running gun battle along the railroad. He was finally apprehended by City Patrolman James Brown and Chief of Police A. H. Webb. Miller was jailed after his capture and held over to the grand jury. About two weeks ago he attempted to hang himself in his jail cell but was cut down by Jailer Ed Burken.

At the time of his capture he had threatened the life of his wife, Chief of Police Webb, and City Attorney Wells Overby.

Stanley Bennett, a powerful Negro ex-convict from the Tennessee State Prison, was being held in the jail for "using a car without the consent of the owner."

He served a sentence in the Tennessee state prison for murder.

Both men disappeared following their escape and their presence is not known at this time. A state wide alarm has been issued through the State Police channels and city and county officers are effecting a search.

Jailer Ed Burken reconstructed the escape for a Ledger and Times reporter and said it took place in this manner.

Miller was locked in a cell on the South side of the jail that was considered in very good condition. Bennett was lodged in a cell on the West side of the jail, but the door to his cell was not locked. The outer door of the jail was secured however.

Bennett apparently aided Miller to escape from his cell by driving a short length of two by four between the cell door and the facing. This action sprung the door enough to allow Miller to squeeze through the top of the door.

He weighs only 145 pounds, but at that, the feat was considered amazing by Mr. Burken and others, because there was still only a small space for the Negro to escape from. If the two by four slipped from the door, Miller would have been cut practically in two by the force of the door springing back into shape.

The lock was not damaged. The two men then went to work on the window, removing several bricks and mortar from around it. The heavy iron grating made of bars two inches wide and over one-quarter inch thick was ripped from the window. Bennett is short, but is powerfully built through the shoulders.

After the heavy grating was removed from the inside of the window, parts of it were used to pry the heavy wire screen from the outside. The outside screen is attached to the frame by half-inch iron bolts which run through the two-inch framing for the screen through the window framing and are secured on the inside by a threaded nut.

The wire in the screen is made of very heavy gauge steel. This frame was pushed from the window enough to admit the bodies of the two men at the bottom. Sheets from the bunks were tied together and fastened to a water pipe that runs beneath the window.

The two men let themselves down to the concrete and disappeared.

A description of the two escapees is as follows: Charles Miller, alias Charles Coklow, age 40-45 height five feet, eight inches weight 145 pounds, Negro, very black with large lips. A scar runs through his lower lip, wears false teeth and has thin hair.

Stanley Bennett, age thirty, height five feet eight inches, weight one hundred sixty pounds, medium build with broad shoulders, Negro, yellow. Bennett has knife scars across his back.

Those who see the Negroes are requested to contact the county or city police immediately. Both men are described as dangerous and

SPORTS LINEUP

The major leagues have seven games on the schedule for today.
In the American League, it's Detroit at New York, Cleveland at Washington, St. Louis at Boston and Chicago at Philadelphia for a night game. In the National League, Brooklyn is under the lights at St. Louis, Philadelphia is at Chicago, and New York is at Cincinnati. Pittsburgh and Boston aren't scheduled. In the American League yesterday, the New York
Yankees took two from Detroit,
11-1 and 12-2, Boston clipped St.
Louis twice, 8-5 in 10 innings and 4-0. Cleveland took a pair from Washington, 1-0 and 2-1, and Philadelphia and Chicago split the A's, winning the first game 6-0 and the White Sox taking the nightcap,
7-4. In the National League, Cincinnati and New York split, the Reds winning the first game 10-4
and New York taking the second game 4-2. Philadelphia swept Chicago 7-3 and 9-2, Boston took two from Pittsburgh, 4-3 and 2-1, and Brooklyn was rained-out at St.
Louis.

The injury riddled Boston Red Sox have something else to worry about. This time it's infielder Vern Stephens, who dislocated his knee
in a play at first against the A's yesterday. Doctors haven't indicated the extent of the injury.

Dr. Cary Middlecott of Memphis turns his attention to Chicago's upcoming Tam O'Shanter golf tourney today after winning the $15,000
St. Paul, Minnesota, Open yesterday. Middlecott finished with a 268 total, five strokes ahead of Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia.

Billy Goodman of the Boston Red Sox is clinging to his spot as baseball's leading hitter with a .348
average. Stan Musial of the St.
Louis Cardinals is second at .327.
Hank Sauer of the Cubs leads in home runs with 23, but Larry Berra of the Yankees and Gil Hodges of Brooklyn are challenging with 18
each.

American Olympic hopes have received a boost with the news that world champion weightlifter John Davis is out of the hospital and will be able to compete in the games. Doctors pronounced him okay yesterday after he had suffered a stomach ailment, which caused him to lose 15 pounds.

We still need a bridge across her.

Mrs. Virgie Lovis and Mrs.
Mary McClure are improving some after long illnesses. Most of us feel better since the weather is cooler.
I believe I saw Mr. Taylor Smith pass recently though he has been in Texas.
Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kirk are taking their vacation touring California. Mrs. Kirk, formerly Miss Cornelia Spiceland, teaches in St.
Worth high school.
Mr. Guernsey Kidder, formerly of this county, but now of Beaville,
Texas, surprised Mrs. Chalmers Kindred's family and others by flying in for a visit last week for the first time in eleven years.

Checking Up

PHILIP WILKIE, son of the late Republican presidential nominee of 1940, looks a bit worn as he checks up on GOP convention news in Chicago's amphitheater. The headline seems to make a point of the fact that the convention has seen some bitter fights. (International) clashes with Billy Kilgore of Minni-sota in Brooklyn tonight is lead off the week's boxing program. Top bout of the week will be Wednesday night in Chicago, where welterweight Chuck Dawy of Detroit meets Carmen Basilio of Syracuse, New York in a 10 rounder.

Top ranked Vic Seixas of Philadelphia has proved that his poor showing in the Wimbledon tournament wasn't anything permanent.
Seixas won the Spring Lake New Jersey Invitation tournament yesterday with a three-set triumph over Billy Talbot of New York.
The score was 10-8, 9-2, and 6-2.

Three weeks of racing gets underway at New York's Jamaica track today, with the Wakefield stakes highlighting the opening day card. A field of nine will go in the six furlong race for two-year olds, with unbeaten "Trojan Monarch" the probable favorite.

TWO DANGEROUS

are to be approached with care. It is not known whether the men are armed at the present or not.

In the recent escapee that resulted in the capture of Miller alias Cokolow, he took several shots at Chief of Police A. H.
Webb, who with several other officers, was trying to capture him.

He used a .22 automatic rifle.
Miller fled to the swamp East of town and was not flushed out until the following day by city county, state officers and Military Police.

Patrolman Brown saw Miller emerge from the swamp and called on him to surrender. Miller approached Brown with his hands raised, and gave himself up. Brown "hook him down" and found that he was not armed.

His weapon had been recovered
earlier by city officers.

BOMBER MAKES LIKE A FIGHTER

ROARING FROM THE RUNWAY at Boeing field, Seattle, during intensive tests, the eight-jet engine Boeing B-52 takes off like a fighter.
The big, swept-wing bomber is powered by Pratt & Whitney J-57 jet engines. Speed, altitude, range and weight of the B-52 are secret, but on its maiden flight April 15 it remained in the air almost three hours. (International)

Attempt Made To Blast Out Dug In Red Troops

By United Press

Communist troops are dug in along the 155-mile Korean battle-front.

And allied pilots are trying to blast them out.

Fighter bombers of the fifth air force swept up and down the Red troops, with rocket, light bombs and machine gun fire. They destroyed bunkers and blasted machine gun nests.

It was one of the fiercest infantry support attacks of the year.
The boss of the United States army says that the UN is standing firm in Korea. General Lawton Collins says the Communists haven't a "ghost of a chance" of driving out the UN.

The army chief of staff, touring the war theater, told a woman that the UN can stay "indefinitely."

The Communist radio at Peking has stepped up its propaganda charges against the UN. It broadcasts a statement by the Communist premier of China charging the allied pilots with violating the Manchurian border.

UN officials are studying his charges carefully because similar ones were made just before the Chinese troops went into the Korean war. Observers say the Reds may be paving the way for an all-out offensive.

At Panmunjom, the Communist truce negotiators have filed a two-day recess. Under the new truce agreement, no reason has been given. But observers say the Reds may want time to study a new UN proposal for breaking the truce and launching an offensive.
